It is certainly desirable that there should be steadlastness of conviction among the people on the great underlying principles of government, for in a republic that stability of government which is necessary to continuous prosperity depends upon the people. However, we are inclined to believe that the It is certainly desirable that there sciliating state of the public mind is a vacilitating elaste of the public mind has a transitory condition, and that it will peas away, to some extent at least, when both the government and the people have lead a little more time to adjust themselves to the marvelous changes which have been wrought by the railroads, the telegraph and the thousand and one labor saving inventions which are revolulabor saving inventions which aid in tionizing the lives, the habits and in many-respects the ideas of the people. Adapting ourselves to these new agencies modern civilization naturally create a good deal of friction and desarrantee and has an unsettling effect on the pub-lic mind. So far as its tendency is to weaken the stability of government, the lack of adherence to political parties is to be deprecated, but we do not believe

A modified spirit of independence, such as is likely to follow more settled condition of affairs in general, we believe to be essential to the public good. It puts a check upon political parties lich cannot be successfully exercises which cannot be indecessfully executed in any other way. The old regime of etrict partisanship gave the parties a license to do things which they are now alraid to do because of the certainty of punishment by their own membership.
The nomination of unfit men for positions of responsibility was also one of

The great value of political independence we think will be found in the re-forms which will be effected in munic-ipal and other branches of local government, in which it will be more largely exercised than in national affairs. issues before the country.

There appears to be no reason for disagreeing with Mr. Cureton in regard to the proposition that a good deal of dust was kicked upon in the campaign by all was kicked opon in the campage of a sai to admit that considerable of that obscuring suff was stirred up by the Populiets, but the opinion that the voters were hilnded thereby is apparunfounded. We are very much inclined to believe that they saw through it all with unusual clearness of vision. The complaint of the Populist brother that the Republicans made the camgion on the issue that Democratic free parks on the country, and that the party is now receding from that po-sition by declaring for conservative leg-islation on that question, is not well founded in fact. The Republicans declared that the business of the country had been paralyzed by the Democratic threat of free trade, the long uncertainty of attempted legislation on the question. and the unesticiactory protective measure which was finally evolved from the chaos of Damocratic, incapacity, but the bene was not made that the country would be ruined by the Wilson bill, nu-satisfactory as it is either to protectionists or free traders. The issue as made by the Republicans was that the Demo-cratic free trade crossde had already brought the country to the verge of ruin, and that the leaders of that party, unmitsfied with their own work, were threatening to reopen the contest and re new the agitation and uncertainty. To prevent this contingency and to pr prevent this contingency and to preserve the protective system from destruction, the Republican party saked to be re-turned to power. The people did the rest, and did it with a unanimity that leaves no doubt that they knew exactly what they were doing and why they did it. They had all the experience with free trade legislation that they wanted and they said so emphatically.

The Republican party accounts

The Peeple's party have known all along that there was not support for both papers in the county, and this is more apparent than ever now, since the tide did not flow the Popullet way on November 6th. It is said that each paper has its champions. It is no longer the strong and uncompromising attended to the re-instantament of the Me the large of the re-instantament of the Me the large of the re-instantament of the Me they law. In your leading editorial of Thuraday, under the leading of "Reasons for Conservation," you say:

"The tendamies to go to extremes in the contament of the training of the trade of high protection will not seen be under taken by any party." As a matter of comme those castures of the Wilson bill which ignore the principles of protection. "Which is the principles of protection." Will have to be revised and corrected, but this necessary revision will constitute the built of tariff legislation for many years to come. Is that a fact? In it possible that all this how made by the Republican press and politicians against the free trade. Democracy as crystallized in the Wilson Comman bill, was simply that where withal to blind the eyes of honest roters. Is it true that the free trade Democracy at the last seesion of congress actually passed a tariff bill so nearly after the Republican pattern of 'protection' that all it needs to render it perfect in substance say so and we are bound to believe you.

J. W. Reese used no such language, nor did be asy anything in the article alluded to that would load any man of common sense to draw any such infercommon industry, which has cost in years of toil and millions of money to build up, be would do more good for the county and nore good for the county and nore good for the county and nore good in himself.

Last year we shipped hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of green fruit, and not only did not get back a dollar, but many of us received bills for balances on freight, while Mr. Huntington pocketed all—not muoh less than half a million.

If Huntington continues his present rate of 860 per car ou green fruit, it would be far better that every rail between here and shockton should be taken up and cast into the sea, and we return to the oil system of freighting. For then we could deliver our shiff just as cheep, while thousands of men would find employment at good sugges. Thousands of horses would be called into use; a home market would be created for our lany and grain, and the money would all be kept at home. But, as it is, Huntington absorbs all the substance of the farmer and fruit grower, takes the money from us, senden cover his to real the money from us, enden cover his to be pay the 6 per cent interest on a hundred and forty millions of factitious railroad bonds that Governor Patterson and the commission appointed by the President, say in the amount saddled upon us, evidence of which is now on lie in the interior department at Washington. Couple. POLITICAL AND OTHER CHANGES

thips Picked Up About the Insti tute-Opinions Against

There is a couple near Sanger who are married, yet not married, divorced am not divorced, and they want to marry again and cannot, and the state of affair again and cannot, and the said it is pos-sible to imagine. Perhaps there has never been another case like it in the United States. Some years ago they bemany efforts to agree, they agreed to disagree, and applied for a divorce, the plaintiff employing Frank Laning as at-torney and the defendant retaining W. P. Thompson. In due course of time the case came on for trial, and on Dec. 22, 1803, the superior court of this county ordered a decree of divorce. It would even at first glance that this divorced them; and perlayes it did in one sense of the term, but in another sense it did not. The attorneys appear to have been unsuccessful in collecting their fees, and one of them refuses treened the decree of divorce until he is paid, and the other will not consent to a dismissal of the suit until he is remunerated for his services; and thus the mater stands, and the couple are not quite divorce after all.

ated for his services; and thus the mater or stands, and the couple are not quite divorced after all.

To complicate matters still further they have made up their quarrel and lave repeated that they ever had a divorce suit, and now want to marry over again. Obtacles are in the way. The clerk refuses to grant a license, because the records do not show that the couple ever were divorced. And yet the order of divorce was issued, and turn what way they will there is some obstacle in the way of their retting married again. They are heginning to learn that it is a dangerous thing to rush into the divorce court where sugest fear to tread; and if they succeed in extricating themeselves from their present predicament, they will look before they leap next time.

The turmoil of election has subsided. It is surprising how easily everything

It is surprising how easily everything drups back into its normal status. Prodrope back into its normal status. Proplegenerally are satisfied, and the only once who are not are the politicians who tried and failed. Since it is all over, and can be tooked at as a whole, it cannot but be remarked how excellently the Republican campaign was managed. All admit that there never was anything like it in this county before, it was thorough, and systematic. Dr. Desrdorff as chalrman and George W. Junes as secretary of the county cautral committee have received the thanks of the party for their work. They deserve it. It was a good fight from start of finish and from the convention to the ballot box. The splendid victory in this county was due as much to the fine organization and management of the forces as te the weakness of the enemy.

It is said that several well known citi-It is said that several well known citi-zens of Frezno are considering the pros-and cons of moving away. Some may decide not to do so, but others have an-nounced their dutermination to ceat their tots in other places. W. D. Grady is said to have rented an office in Stock-ton, where he will preatice law. But he will relate his office here in confunc-tion with A. O. Williams. The some-what frequent white of Dr. W. T. Man-pin to San Francisco are surnised to imply that he is seriously considering a removal to a wider field. If he should decide to go, he will have many friends in Fresne who will taye many friends

The question might be asked: What about the hospital physician in case Dr. Maupin leaves Freeno? There would not be a vacancy of long standing. The heart of Sepervisors will be Republican after January 1st, and the filling of the vacancy would probably call some Republican physician from his private practice to thus serve the public, would be the increst guesswork at the present time to appealing on who will be appointed. In fact, the vacancy does not yet exist.

There are other places, not yet vacant, which will come in to be filed societ or leter. There is a cort of unwritten law that the hospital steward who comes in with the physician goes out with him. Bob Rader has not yet tendered his resignation as steward, but if he should do so, it is probable that the Republican Board of Supervisors would not go outside their party to find a man for the vacancy. In this connection the name of William G. Somers is mentioned. He was for many years the steward under Leach. If no one applies for the janitorship of the court house, after the new supervis-

The broad foundation on which the reputation of a teacher should reat is his ability to distinguise between facts and mere opinions. Scarcely any other profession needs men of so liberal and careful views. A blacksmith or a law-yer may put forward what he thinks or believes, and but little harm is likely to result. Yet to tell children that a thing is right or is wrong, because it seems so to the teacher, may result in harm. For its reason a teacher should put his propidices as much in the background agreement of the seems. It is not canable of incompanies of the teacher, may really in the background and the defence. It is not canable of incompanies of the people of Freato in a speech that protection was wrong, and that he could prove it. That was simply his opinion. He did not prove it to the satisfaction of his hearers, and they rejected his assertion. They were mensual could reason for themselves. The board of canvassers stuck man The board of chryssers above branch fully to their work yesterday, and by 6 p.m. had counted 59 out of 72 precincts, including Schma I and 2. The remaining thirteen precincts are mostly small, and will likely be completed by noon modicial returns seem to have The modificial returns seem to have been exceptionally close and correct. In all the precincts counted only sixteen yous were rejected, and the gains and lesses of candidates were tractional only. Its still a close race between Risky and Carter for superior judge, Local interest in the gutternatorial and assembly count has entirely subsided. No poll list was sent in with the returns from Roberts precinct. Inspector W. W. Shipp appeared with the duplicate list in response to a subpeas, and the count proceeded.

The poll list in Sysamore district was

In Freeno No. 1 precinct the election officers attended on a subpena, no returns having been found in the proper envelope. It turned out that at the effect of the election officers and the processor of the election officers and the returns than appeared in good shape. The precince of the election officers and the returns than appeared in good shape. The precinct was counted.

Risley and Carter were in constant attendance, watching the count as it progressed.

The affidavit of Inspector Shipp in Roberts precinct to the certificate of oath of office was objected to as not original and the objection admitted. In Squaw Valley precinct the tally list was signed only by the clerks of election, the votes for candidates were not filled in, either in writing or figures, and the oath of office of George E. Smith as elec'k was sworn to before himself as clerk.
